A special banquet will follow the service. To flavor the main dish, the chefs are going to use the broomsticks of thirteen dead witches.

Admission? . . . 13 black buttons, of course.

No Telephones Until March 1

There will be no additional telephone installations in the Library or Science Buildings until after March 1, it was announced by the Rev. Robert P. Arthur, S. J.

At the same time, he announced that the Telephone Company will not re-service the phones out of order in those buildings due to the time and expense in doing so.

Debaters Schedule Forty Clashes For Coming Year

In the first of forty debates, Loyola met St. Peter's of Jersey City here at Evergreen in a non-decision contest on February 4. Edward F. Shea and Winston T. Kourey represented Loyola arguing the negative of the National Topic.

Loyola's Bellarmine Debating Society has scheduled a home debate with St. Francis College of Loretto, Pa., here at Loyola on Friday, February 20, at 4:00 p.m.

St. Francis College speakers will uphold the affirmative, while John Evelius and Lawrence Mooney will defend the negative on the National Debater's topic, Resolved: "That a Federal World Government Should Be Established."

To Meet Swarthmore

A pair of debates are listed with Swarthmore College of Swarthmore, Pa., on Friday, February 27. Two Loyola debating teams will journey to Swarthmore College, near Philadelphia, to uphold opposite sides of the question with two Swarthmore debating teams.

Results of the GREYHOUND Poll concerning the corsage question at local semi-formal dances showed that students were generally in favor of semi-formals but did not approve of corsages at them. The exact tabulations follow.

For corsages	27%
Against	73%
For semi-formals	65%
Against	35%

These figures show a decided increase over a poll taken last year on the same subject. The figures then were as follows:

For corsages	64%
Against corsages	36%

One team, composed of Dudley Shoemaker and Frank Pacienza, will speak for the affirmative here, while the second, made up of Francis X. Gallagher and Winston T. Kourey, will defend the negative side of the issue at Swarthmore. The debate is scheduled to begin at 4:00 p.m.

Forty Debates Scheduled

The Robert Bellarmine Debating Society, with Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., as moderator, has planned a series of approximately forty debates throughout the East. About half of these are to be held here at Evergreen.

Loyola Host To Catholic Press Meet On Feb. 22

The Sixth Annual Catholic High School and College Press Conference will be held at Loyola College on Sunday, February 22. All Catholic high schools and colleges from Maryland, Washington and the surrounding areas will attend.

Following celebration of the Mass at 10:30 a.m., the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, will address the conference.

Chairman Named

Sister Mary Christine of Seton High School, Chairman of the Moderators Committee, will act as the general chairman of the conference. Various editors of the publications will act as chairmen and discussion leaders of the sectional meetings.

Highlight of the meeting will be a writing tournament for news, sports and features. Contestants will be assigned stories and allotted a certain period of time in which to complete them. The papers will be graded by the chairmen of the groups in conjunction with representatives of the colleges attending.

Awards Planned

The winning school will be awarded a trophy and the individual winners will be given certificates. The papers will also be graded by the Institute of the Press.

Lectures and open forum discussions will be conducted throughout the day by prominent newspaper men of the city.

The list of speakers includes Harold Williams, editor of the Metro-gravure Section of the Sun, Tommy Dukehart of the News-Post, Dr. Regis Boyle, moderator of a Washington High School paper, May Murray, Chairman of the Maryland Scholastic Press Association and Robert Elmer, of the Sun.

This year there will be two divisions of the sectional meetings so that those attending may have an opportunity to gain a broader coverage of the conference.

Father Parsons To Give Lecture

The Rev. Wilford Parsons, S. J., will open a series of three lectures about the world situation on March 7. Father Parsons has just returned from a tour of Europe, where he obtained first-hand information on his topic.

The talks are scheduled for three successive Sundays, March 7, 14 and 21, and will be conducted in the Evergreen Library. His three discussions will concern the political situation in France and Italy, and the Marshall Plan.

Father Parsons was the editor of America, the national Jesuit magazine, for some years. Tickets for this series may be obtained from the Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., or the night school office.

Loyola College's Evening School had as its guest lecturer on Wednesday, February 11, Dr. Charles Tansill, who spoke on the topic, "Theodore Roosevelt's Policy in the Far East."

Freshman Class Elects Wittstadt President

Charles Wittstadt was elected president of the Freshman class in the elections which were held in the Gym on Friday, January 30. Mr. Wittstadt was already serving as the class representative on the Student Council.

Others Named

Edward Clarke was chosen vice-president; William Dempsey, secretary; and Milton Harris, treasurer. All of these men were previously serving on the temporary board of directors, which conducted class business during the first semester.

The elections were held by the Student Council and were conducted in the same manner as the nominations. Each member of the class was permitted to vote for four of the seven nominees.

Mr. Dudley Shoemaker, President of the Student Council, expressed his disappointment at the number of votes cast. Only 77 members of a class of well over 300 voted.

Meeting Planned

The new class officers will hold office until next September, at which time elections will again be held. The other nominees were Samuel Althoff, Royce Upton and Francis Vogel.

President Wittstadt stated that a meeting of the freshman class will be held very soon to determine future policies of the class.

by David B. Maguire

This week's Meet the Faculty introduces Mr. Harry W. Kirwin, Professor of History at Loyola. Mr. Kirwin is a former resident of New York and graduated from Regis High School in New York in 1929. He received his A. B. degree from Holy Cross College in 1934.

A graduate of Brooklyn Law School in 1937, he was admitted to the New York Bar the following year, and still maintains his franchise there. Mr. Kirwin received his M. A. in 1945 and is now preparing his thesis for a Ph.D., which he hopes to receive next year.

In addition to history, Mr. Kirwin has taught English, Latin and Greek, the latter two while an instructor at Fordham University from 1941 to 1943.

Here at Loyola, Mr. Kirwin is the moderator of the International Relations Club, which conducts weekly discussions on current problems. At the moment he is planning to take the club to Cornell University for an International Relations Conference on April 1-4.

While teaching at Regis High School in New York, Mr. Kirwin was the moderator of its debating society, which at that time was the best group of its kind in the area.

Rehling Band Numbered Seven; "Golden Ear-rings" Tops List

by Larry Davis and Dick Coleman
Attendees of the recent Sodality Union Dance will recall that Carl Rehling's Orchestra was composed of sixteen members. Those who remember this same aggregation when it was originally formed will recall that it was made up of only seven men.

Join Organizations

Along came the war and the group, like all the rest, was abruptly disbanded due to demand for its services abroad.

After peace had been restored and the boys had returned home, it was decided that expansion would be a wise move. Another small band, "The Men Of Note," joined the original unit and further additions were made to make up the present sixteen piece organization.

Gordon Skaggs and Lee Okun are the men responsible for the unusual arrangements of Rehling's Band. Skaggs also plays lead alto sax. Other contributors to the band library are Ed Smith and Sanford Wagner, the latter also playing the lead trombone.

Golden Ear-rings

Peggy Lee's "Golden Ear-rings" is one of the top records of the current record campaign. The popular Capitol Record is backed up with the Peggy's 'guitar-strummin' husband, Dave Barbour.

The name of the song is taken from the title of the picture of the same name, as they say on the radio.

The organization is still awaiting a reply from Navy and Pennsylvania regarding a challenge match to be played at these two institutions. Villanova, which has a newly-formed chess team, has been challenged by the Loyola group.

Meanwhile the elimination tournament now has reached round number three. The winner will receive a five dollar prize.

Yearbook Staff Readies Sports

Every department of the Yearbook has finished its task but the sports; consequently, efforts are being concentrated on this final section of the annual.

Spencer L. Davidson, Evergreen Sports Editor, is currently concluding the coverage of Loyola teams. Although all other copy is in the printer's hands at this date, the sports deadline does not fall until March 15. This will permit up-to-date coverage of Spring athletics as well as those of Fall and Winter.

Plan Activity Pages

Features of the '48 Evergreen not previously announced include numerous "bleed" cuts, or pictures covering the page from edge to edge without margin; at least three paste-up pages of composite pictures covering the year's activities; and individual sketches of Seniors.

These sketches will occupy the last pages of the book if the budget permits their insertion; otherwise they will be reproduced as a composite and distributed to the graduates. A decision on this matter will be made before the final March 15 deadline.

Cancel Feature

Difficulty in establishing contact with the members of the class of '23, now in its 25th anniversary year, has forced cancellation of the projected feature on that class.

Editor J. Allan Panuska has announced that although the formal subscription drive is concluded, it may be possible through cancellations to accommodate a few more purchasers.

'Marelyn' Cast Being Chosen

Casting rehearsals for the Mask and Rapier Society's production of "Marelyn," an original satire-revue based on Maryland history, are nearing completion and regular rehearsals will begin soon, George Herman, student director, announced this week.

Leading roles have been assigned to Dick "Small Change" Coleman, who also played the lead in the last Mask and Rapier production "Sound of Hunting," and Bill Mullikin, recent winner of the Tuneful Traveler's Talent Contest and song-and-dance man for the Alamedian Light Opera Company and other local groups.

The original satire, written by students Don Swartz and George Herman will be presented at a downtown theatre the latter part of April, according to Mr. William M. J. Driscoll, S. J., moderator of the dramatic group.

A meeting was held last week by the Dramatic Society to draw up plans for the presentation of the famous Morality Play "Everyman" which will be given during Lent.

The play will be presented at Loyola and at several Baltimore parishes. The cast will mainly be comprised of the same students who were in the play last year.

College Sodalitys Hear Noted Jesuits At Hopkins'

by C. Rodgers Kines

Three prominent American Jesuits addressed a Baltimore Convention of the College Sodalitys at Johns Hopkins University on Monday, February 9, 1948.

The speakers were the Rev. Francis P. LeBuffe, S. J., the Rev. J. Rodger Lyons, S. J., and the Rev. Richard L. Rooney, S. J., all members of the Queens Work, national Sodality magazine.

Sodalitys Combine

The combined Sodalitys of Loyola College, Mount St. Agnes College, Notre Dame of Maryland College together with the Newman Clubs of Johns Hopkins University and Goucher College sponsored the lectures.

A dinner was served in the Hopkins cafeteria between the lectures and a record dance followed them.

Leading Writer

Father LeBuffe, a frequent contributor to such publications as The American Weekly, the Sacred Heart Messenger and The Queens Work, is one of the leading Catholic writers in the nation. Father LeBuffe received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Woodstock College, Maryland, and his Ph. D. from Fordham.

He has served as an Associate Editor of America, Managing Editor of Thought, and Dean of the Fordham University School of Social Service. At the present time he is devoting all his efforts to work as the Regional Secretary of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary in the Middle Atlantic States.

Attended Conference

Father Lyons is an Associate Editor of The Queens Work, national Sodality magazine. In 1947 he traveled to Barcelona, Spain, where he attended the International Sodality Conference.

Father Rooney is also a member of the staff of The Queens Work and a director of Sodality Activity in St. Louis. He served as an Air Corps Chaplain during the war.

The Loyola Sodalitys conducted a vigorous campaign to have as many Loyola students attend as possible. The prefects urged all club heads to stress the convention's importance to their groups.

Married Men Attend Supper

A buffet supper highlighted the monthly meeting of the Married Men's Club in the Oak Room of the Cafeteria on Tuesday, February 10. The purpose of the meeting was to encourage more active participation in the organization's activities by the members' wives.

The supper began at 6:30 p. m. and was followed by the regular meeting, at which the various committees of the club submitted their monthly reports.

Since the meeting was held on the same night as the La Salle-Loyola basketball game, the club obtained tickets from the Athletic Association, so that the members and their wives could attend the game in a body.

The Married Men's Club was organized last November by its three founding members, James Bailey, William Healy and Howard Hurst. Since that time the membership has increased considerably.

The purpose of the club's formation was to provide an organization to acquaint Evergreen married men with one another and to sponsor greater social contact among their wives.

Something For Chesterton

It was a striking example of paradox to see the members of the Varsity Basketball Squad cheering wildly in the Gym as two of the flashier intra-mural teams were beating each other to the floorboards in one of the contests last week. The Varsity was showing a brand of colorful enthusiasm which has been strangely absent from most of the major varsity games this year.

In other words, that Varsity Squad was showing Loyola how to cheer; it was giving the students an example of what genuine backing really is. The student body needs it!

Student attendance this year has been about two hundred per game. Not a very exemplary percentage, is it? Not even four hundred students bothered themselves to pick up their student books. Only one hundred and fifty students could drag themselves to the Texas Wesleyan game.

The Basketball Squad deserves a double tribute, one for its brilliant court performances—and the other, which is far more important, for its enthusiasm even though the student body is not properly backing the team. You may be able to find a better basketball team but you'll go a long way before you find a finer group of all-around men.

New Fad In Gym

Evidently unsatisfied with the present program of sports pursued in the Gym, some enterprising souls have taken it upon themselves to initiate a new sport: wallet-collecting.

In the last two weeks, several unwary students have left their street clothes in the locker room, played a vigorous game of basketball and then returned to their clothes only to find that some boney fingered shadow had relieved them of their temporal possessions.

Although it's true that the money can be replaced in many cases, it is virtually impossible to replace the valuable cards, certificates and addresses which are kept in wallets.

Therefore on behalf of those who are publicly bemoaning the loss of their valuables, I earnestly request that the members of the Wallet-Collecting Club have the common decency to return at least the empty wallets to their rightful owners via parcel post, pony express or mysterious caller.

A word to the culprits: cut it out or get out. You're not what Loyola wants.

Ups And Downs

When Dante discussed the stages of heaven and hell in his Divine Comedy, he could have found fertile material for his extremities in the moving picture shows currently running in Baltimore.

The average movie-goer has only to cast his eyes about to find his representation of the good—Citizen Saint with back-ground music furnished by the Vatican Choir, or he can find his representation of evil—Youth Aflame, Sins of Bali or Children of Paradise (harmless for the children under the age of two).

Personally I find that you can enjoy the shows better by taking their names and combining them into sentences such as If Winter Comes, Sleep My Love, Treasure of Sierra Madre, You Were Meant For Me, or When A Girl's Beautiful. Heaven Only Knows.

A Slight Error

Last week a new face popped up in the chemistry lecture class. The professor quizzed the newcomer as to whether or not he was in the correct class. The novice answered that the Dean had assigned him to that class.

The minutes ticked on. Once again the skeptical professor asked the same question. Same answer. However, the professor still felt uneasy—the conscientious type, no doubt.

The class was drawing to a close. Still worried by the new face, the professor put the question to him once more. With righteous indignation the student answered, "This is the Johns Hopkins Inorganic Chemistry Class, isn't it?"

Ad Drive

A general meeting of all Staff Members and all interested students will be held next week in THE GREYHOUND Office.

The purpose of this meeting will be to launch an extensive ad drive to obtain additional funds for publication of the paper.

The Editors believe it will be necessary to publish several four page issues to relieve the current financial situation. However, co-operation from the students may eliminate the necessity for such drastic action.

The Critilog

by George Herman

Whether you are fed up with college life or enjoy it as much as teachers do, by all means don't miss seeing Good News. It may be good or bad, according to your tastes; but in all cases it is interesting and highly entertaining.

The original flavor of the 1927 hit Broadway show has been well preserved. Good News is not a "Hollywood" musical; it is Broadway—theatre musical. Nearly every third number is a production affair, and the opening scene, a cheer rally, can easily be recognized as the stuff that goes over big on The Great White Way.

It is a "dream" show—one designed to say to you; "Now, college life isn't like this at all, but if you'll grant me that it could be like this, then it's highly probable." The "dream" element, of course, is highly recognizable in such scenes as the "Pass That Peace Pipe" sequence where everybody in a drugstore fits into a production number with perfect timing and yet appear to be naturally the way people in drugstores act.

The star of the show is Joan McCracken, who brought life and a comic style unique in musicals. Her funniest spree is in the "Lucky In Love" number where she pretends to make love to one boy while she hides the boy she had been making love to only a moment earlier.

Not many years ago "college plays" were the things of the moment. Songs like "You've Got To Be A Football Hero," "Betty Co-ed" and "I'm Working My Way Through College" were the rage; and now, with so many veterans in American colleges, the cycle is repeating. I point to Barefoot Boy With Check of last season, and this season's High Button Shoes which involves the Rutgers' football team.

Personally, I'd like to see a college where people act as they do in the "theatre" colleges. Imagine breaking into "I'm Getting Littered Up With Literature" in Mr. Herzer's class; or a song-and-dance to "Not a Nickle In My Pocket" after paying the quarterly bill. Or Jim Lacy suddenly blaring out with "The Basketball Cake Walk" in a big game. On second thought, forget it.

Editorials

Note To Bookworms

It's a rather puerile college publication that runs stirring editorials condemning the deliberate destruction of library books and magazines. But this week, due to circumstances beyond our control, we're forced to become puerile.

In other words, unidentified Loyola students are resorting to practices not usually associated with supposedly mature college men. Instead of copying references or book passages that have pleased the esthetic in them, these students are employing the easier but more impractical and destructive method of merely ripping out the pages.

Needless to say, this practice must be stopped. Not only are many of the books hard to replace, but a continuation of this vandalism will force the librarian to establish a check system that will inconvenience both her staff and students using the library.

The Student Council is inaugurating an honor system. Let's establish this as "Be Kind To Library Books Month" and respect it.

Want-Ad

Wanted: a good man. That's the want-ad that Jim Bailey is plugging this week. Loyola's senior delegate in the National Federation of Catholic College Students until recently, Jim has been forced to step down because of other duties and is now conducting a search to find the ideal man to succeed him.

Jim and the junior delegates—Gene Corrigan and Ed Clarke—are faced with an increase of NFCCS activities and not enough interested men to help them out. The local group is not only supporting the World Student Relief program, but is also conducting a radio script contest and is contemplating accepting a commission to act as coordinators of dramatic activities in the Baltimore-Washington region. They want help—lots of it.

Their aim is to make Loyola a leader in NFCCS affairs in this region. To accomplish this, they need a sharp increase in student interest. To increase interest they need a competent and willing senior delegate to succeed Bailey. Ergo—Wanted: a good man.

UMT

The results of the Universal Military Training Poll published on page two of this issue came as somewhat of a surprise to the amateur Gallups who take our straw votes for us. The fact that 85% of the veterans, who don't have to worry about being "it" again, voted for the plau wasn't amazing; the non-veteran sentiment was the unusual note.

The majority of these non-vets are youngsters still in, or not far removed from, their teens. They comprise the age group from which—if and when UMT is passed—certain fortunate individuals will be signaled out for a tour of duty with the armed forces. And yet 75% of these men voted for some kind of universal military training.

This would seem to indicate a healthy state of mind in today's college student. Contrary to the opinion of some educators, he reads more of the daily paper than just comics and sports. He understands that the battle lines in the cold war have already been drawn and the fight begun against Communist ideology.

Maybe he's been to cafeteria bull sessions with some of the veteran students. Maybe he's been thumbing through current affairs magazines in the library. But no matter how he did it, it's nice to know that the younger student has an interest in world affairs.

LETTERS

A Note From Oxford

(The following letter was written to Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., Moderator of the Loyola Debating Society. It was written by Lord Benn, who was one of the Oxford debaters who engaged Loyola in a debate at the Baltimore Museum of Art.)

Dear Mr. Driscoll:

Many thanks for your card and good wishes. It may surprise you to know that we have been out to the Midwest again and up to New England. It is wonderful country, the United States, and though we all look forward to going home, we hope to see more of it in the future.

If I can get over to a summer school this August, I certainly shall and perhaps I will be able to look you up again in Baltimore.

By the way, one small point occurs to me and please don't bother if it seems at all difficult. You may remember that I did a broadcast on Palestine with Francis Gallagher which was recorded. If, by any chance, there is a spare disc, I should very much like to have it.

Edward (Sir Edward Boyle) and Ken (Kenneth Harris) join me in sending all good wishes to you and those whom we met in our delightful visit to Loyola. Don't forget to let us know if any of them and especially yourself are likely to be in England.

Yours most sincerely,

Anthony Benn.

BOOKS

by J. Scrimger

Othello—Emil Ludwig

When something has been done as perfectly as possible, there is no reason on earth why it should be done again. But Emil Ludwig apparently did not think so.

Looking William Shakespeare in the eye, he published his latest novel, Othello. Though most of the incident and circumstance of this book differ from Shakespeare's play, the plot remains essentially the same. Iago has disappeared and he is replaced in the story by German agents. Desdemona's handkerchief becomes a letter.

For many, this book will prove a failure from the start. Ludwig's very attempt to alter Shakespeare's story only makes his own vulgarly conspicuous. His variation and elaboration are bizarre and with very little good taste.

Technically the novel suffers as an organic whole because of an uneven telling medium. The story is told now by the author, then through Desdemona's "stream of experience." The tragic climax of the Othello story is the least convincing part of the book.

The scene is of course Venice—a highly fictional Venice; and the characters, costumes, marble halls, and galleon ships, etc., positively demand technicolor and Miklos Rosta.

However, it is something to read while commuting in the morning or while thinking about something else and it will serve to increase your appreciation of Shakespeare.

Texans Fail To Fence In Zedalis; Loyola Triumphs

Coach Johnny Edwards and his Texas Wesleyan College Rams came to town on January 29 in an effort to lasso the Hounds for the second straight year, but failure to fence in Mike Zedalis resulted in a wild 68-63 victory for Loyola.

Zedalis scored 25 points to personally pace Lefty Reitz's cagers.

The Rams, winners of 32 games last year, had previously knocked off Duquesne, ranked first nationally, and lost close tilts to Long Island, La Salle and Georgetown. Led by Easy Parham, the visitors were established favorites, and started off quickly by rushing to a 9-4 lead early in the contest.

Teams Very Accurate

Loyola, with Zedalis' corner set shots and Andy O'Donnell's outside work, closed this gap quickly, and then proceeded to play goal-exchanging with the Rams until the count went to 18-18.

Both teams were unusually accurate throughout the first period, which wound up with Loyola ahead, 25-24. It was Zedalis who sparked the club in this quarter, hitting the cords from all angles and gathering in more rebounds than any man on the floor.

The Hounds began to pull away in the second quarter, due mainly again to Zedalis' fine work. The speedy freshman forward was all over the court with his lightning-like play, intercepting passes frequently and starring defensively.

Jim Lacy caught on to the scoring bandwagon in the third session, and with the first team moving on all cylinders, the Greyhounds, who won their fourteenth contest in eighteen starts, pulled away to a comfortable margin which ranged from five to nine points.

Parham Scores

The Rams, however, put on a last-ditch attempt in the final minutes to catch the Reitzmen. Parham, who scored 32 points the night before against La Salle, began finding the range consistently, and when the Texan team used a full court defense mixed with its fast breaking tactics, the game developed into basketball at its wildest.

Length-of-the-court passes, frequent scrambles and long one-hand push shots featured the last few minutes, until the Rams moved to within one point of Loyola, 64-63.

Lacy Scores Twice

Lacy then took over, driving through for a pair of left handed layups which removed the visitors from contention, and established a lead that proved insurmountable.

Zedalis' 25 were augmented by Lacy's 14 tallies and O'Donnell's 12.

In a preliminary clash, the B Squad defeated Calvert Hall's varsity five by a score of 42-37.

La Salle College made it two in a row over the Hounds for the present campaign by taking a 74-58 decision before the largest crowd of the year at the Evergreen court last Tuesday night. Paced by Larry Foust, its 6'9" center who scored 27 points to top all players on both

Terriers Toppled

Hounds Come From Behind To Stop St. Francis, 62-59

by Gerry McCormick

Loyola came from behind to defeat St. Francis College of Brooklyn, 62-59, in a real thriller at Evergreen last Saturday night. The Greyhounds, trailing by 28-25 at halftime, won the game with a determined rally in a see-saw second half.

Jim Lacy with 20 points and Mike Zedalis with 19 led the Green and Gray offense, but high scoring honors for the night went to the Terriers' Tom Gallagher, who scored 27 points on tricky jump shots under the basket.

Bill Johnson opened the scoring with a foul shot, but the lead was short-lived as Emil Mele tallied a goal for the visitors. St. Francis gradually went ahead using the slow, deliberate style of attack and a close guarding defense which temporarily stalled the Greyhounds. As the rather listless first quarter ended, St. Francis was on top, 17-9.

Lacy opened a faster second period by sinking a one-hander from beyond the foul line. Later Zedalis drove in for a layup and made a subsequent foul shot to make the score 24-17. Bill Schanberger sank a set shot and then Lacy ended the half in blazing fashion with a set shot, free throw and twisting layup to bring the Hounds within three points of the visitors, 28-25.

Loyola Fights Back

Zedalis opened the second half with a one hander off the pivot but Hal Grady countered with a hook shot. Andy O'Donnell made a pair of set shots and Lacy added a pair of foul shots, but Gallagher was keeping the Terriers in front with his almost unstoppable shots.

Loyola fought desperately to take the lead as Johnson and Zedalis threw in rebounds and Paul Feeley swished a left hander. Finally, Schanberger made a one-handed shot from the foul line to put Loyola into a 42-41 lead, and from this point on, the game was a scorcher.

Lacy Breaks Tie

A string of seven straight points by Zedalis helped the Hounds garner a lead, but the New Yorkers caught up and tied the score at 57 all.

At this point, Lacy brought the crowd to its feet with a beautiful set shot which put Loyola in front once again. Feeley's insurance layup and Lacy's foul ended the home team's scoring, but Gallagher shoved in another basket as the game ended, 62-59.

Zedalis' Point Making Big Factor In Loyola Victories

by Don Fay, Sports Editor

Although he has been on the starting team for every game this year and while he is second in individual scoring for Lefty Reitz's hoopsters, not so many words have been written on the performances of Mike Zedalis. Yet it's a fact that the freshman redhead turned in the best individual job of the campaign to date with his 25 point contribution in the Texas Wesleyan tiff.

Many have ventured to say he's a better ball player than Jim Lacy. That's merely opinion. The thing to be reckoned with is that Zedalis is only a few points behind big Jim in the point making. In other words, the pressure is off Lacy. When opponents assign their best defenseman on Lacy, Zedalis has a field day.

The way we look at it is this: Lacy's ultimate motive (head for the border, Fay) in playing basketball is victory for Loyola, not scoring points himself. Last year, Jim had a fine club behind him, but no one outstanding scorer other than himself. He knew that the load was on him, so he did the scoring. This season, there's a guy named Zedalis around who scores baskets like he's doing what comes naturally.

That means Lacy passes off more, and scores less. And usually, Zedalis is on the receiving end of the passes. Then too, Mike is adept at picking up loose balls all over the court and converting them into two points.

Loyola's wrestling team had more than average trouble with that snowstorm last Wednesday. It seems the team had a meet carded with Hopkins at Homewood at 8 p. m. Loyola's manager phoned the home team and inquired if the meet were still on. The news was relayed that the meet was off because of snow.

But that's not the end of the story. Along about supper time, Hopkins decided that the weather was perfect for wrestling. Loyola was told to report for a meet at 6:30.

Most of the men had to be called by phone and told to rush to Homewood immediately. Those without phones were sent telegrams, but the messages didn't arrive in time. Neither did the wrestlers.

Result of all this: 22-0 win for Hopkins. This is no alibi for the team's showing. But you can't prepare for a meet in 10 minutes. Athletes must be keyed for a contest. To be called by phone and told to report at once is not only unfair to the individual but a hindrance to his performance. Let's hope it was the last time.

The Line-Up

Gisriel In Third Season; Mueller Standout Matman

(This is the tenth in a series of articles on outstanding Loyola athletes.)

by Mickey Parr

Probably very few fans realize it, but whenever Tom Gisriel pops in a left handed shot for Loyola's basketball team the propulsion of that shot is dependent on a two inch metal screw secured in his shoulder. 'Gis' required insertion of this little gadget after an automobile accident that caused a serious separation of his shoulder.

This genial, well-built athlete, who holds down the center post for Lefty Reitz's cagers, is in his third season as a regular and handles the vital pivot position in the Greyhounds' fast breaking offensive setup.

Played With Norfolk

He came to Loyola in September, 1943, and proved his worth as a member of the starting quintet. The following season Tom was in the Navy, and in the 1945-46 campaign he was pounding the boards for Norfolk's Naval Air Station team, which was one of the better service outfits in the East.

On February 1, 1946, the squad was traveling to Fort Bragg, N. C., for a test with the soldiers, when the mishap occurred which almost ruined his career. He spent five months in the hospital taking physiotherapy and other treatments, while the doctors were securing his shoulder and arm attachment by means of a screw.

After his discharge he spent the summer as counselor at a boys' camp, where he regained the strength in his arm by swimming and chopping trees.

Switched To Center

In last year's campaign Tom was a forward, and wound up as the Greyhounds' third highest scorer. However, when the current season began he was shifted to center so that his 6'3" of height might be fully utilized. He also serves as the team's co-captain with Wish Galvin, and is student president of the Athletic Association.

This 22-year old, 200 pounder has hit the webbing for 102 points in 18 games this year, and is a handy man for cornering the rebound market.

Without a doubt, the abilities of an athlete must be unusual, when the fellow goes out for a sport in which he had never before participated and comes out on top from the very start.

J. Carroll Mueller, Loyola's heavy-weight wrestler who is otherwise known as "Jeep," has succeeded in putting on such a standout performance. Tipping the scales at 230 pounds, the big guy has managed to replace the wrinkles on Coach Phil Goodman's brow with a smile, on each of his three outings thus far.

This season is his first fling at the mat game, but he nevertheless holds victories by a fall over the heavies of Washington and Lee, and Towson Teachers, plus a 7-6 overtime decision against Chris Matthews, of Maryland.

Wanted To Lose Weight

The cause for Jeep's advent into his newly-chosen sport sounds more like a bit of fiction than actual fact. Being somewhat bulbous at 245 pounds, he wanted to lose weight and decided wrestling was a pretty good remedy. It was, at that. The broad-shouldered matman's endeavors have caused a fifteen pound load off his back.

When asked if he thought the finer points of the gruntin' and growlin' racket came fairly easy to him, Mueller assumed a modest attitude. He opines that, if you keep practicing constantly, the know-how is just bound to come along to almost anyone.

Entered In January, 1947

Jeep has been a student at Loyola since January, 1947, and began his athletic endeavors last spring, heaving the shotput and discus for the track team.

While at Loyola High School, he was on the varsity football team, and therein possibly lies the germ that developed into an embryonic wrestling king. Instead of keeping the matter of football practice continually on their minds, Mueller and a few of his mates would find diversion by informal bone-crushing tussles.

So, Jeep, who is 20 years old and stands 6'1", has decided that it was memories of those affairs which prompted him to select the wrestling sport.

Phil Goodman? . . . he's mighty happy about the whole thing!

Natators Gain Second Win By Thumping C.U.

by Gene Corrigan

Sweeping over the visiting Catholic University team, the Evergreen tank crew won for the second time, 45-30. As it had previously beaten Dickinson by the same score, and lost to Scranton by one point, its record after this meet on February 7 is 2-1, and 1-0 in the Mason-Dixon.

Catholic U. was only able to take one first, although second places bolstered their score considerably. Loyola led all the way; at times by as much as twenty-three points. John Mohler won the diving contest with 57.6 points; Jacques Gunning placed third as well as finishing another event; W. Harold of C. U. was second.

Medley Group Wins Again

The 50 yard freestyle ended with Fisher first, and Dunn of Loyola and L. O'Connor of C. U. in a dead heat for second. Jack Rosenberg appeared for the first time on the Loyola roster, serving on the 400 freestyle relay combine.

The efficient Medley group of Tom Maskell, Bill Klarner and Burt Dunn continued to function well; they have won the initial event in all three meets so far. John Mohler takes a firmer grip on the Dive first place each time he is entered; and Gunning is rapidly improving as well.

The times in the C. U. meet were average, except for a very slow 400 Relay (4:26.2).

Summary Listed

300 Medley: (L) Maskell, Klarner, Dunn; 3:41.9.

Scranton Nips Hounds, 38-37; Losers Gain Four First Places

A see-saw swimming meet with Scranton finally ended in a hair splitting 38-37 loss for the Loyola mermen on Saturday, January 31.

Scranton's spectacular Krayer eventually proved to be a most effective point-getter, as he served as anchor man on the decisive 400 yard relay after winning both the 50 and 100 yard Freestyle events. His times of 26 and 59.9 seconds were the best in the wholly-average meet.

Loyola took the first, fourth, seventh and eighth events. Scranton University placed first in the rest, and second in the dive and 400 Free. This balanced rivalry resulted in a score sheet reading 21-

20, favor of Scranton, at the midpoint; from there the teams alternated in the win and loss columns. Coming down to the wire at 37-31, in favor of Loyola, the loss of the 400 relay put the home team one point behind.

The summaries, with winner first, and team in parenthesis:

300 yd. Medley: (L) Maskell, Klarner, Dunn; 3:36.6.
220: Cullen (S), Blondell (L), Kiziss; 2:41.7.

Sho'men Shown

Hounds Trip Washington

Loyola's Greyhound quint continued domination over Mason-Dixon Conference opponents by taking an easy 72-48 decision from Washington College's Sho'men on January 31.

Lefty Reitz sent his entire squad into action against the home team at Chestertown, Md., and his charges went on a scoring spree, after being stalled momentarily in the first quarter.

Recovering from a 3-2 deficit, the Hounds built a 19-9 first period lead, and sailed to a comfortable 38-26 halftime advantage. Jim Lacy and Mike Zedalis lead the visitors' attack, scoring often before giving way to reserves midway in the second quarter.

Uses New Starters

Reitz installed a new starting five to open the third session, using Lacy, Zedalis, Herb Meinert, Jim Bailey and Bill Ferguson. This group continued to manufacture baskets readily, and before Andy O'Donnell and Bill Johnson were called back in, the score was 49-38. The Hounds popped four quick two-pointers, and the count was 57-38.

First sports poll of 1948 will be distributed in the cafeteria next week. Questions will be centered around the present basketball season, attendance at games, etc.

The reserves finished out the contest, and the majority of the team hit the scoring column. Loyola scored 29 field goals and 14 for 26 fouls for its 72 point total.

Lacy, Zedalis Tops

Lacy and Zedalis again were one-two in point making with 17 and 15, respectively. Meinert, seeing considerable action for the first time this season, cashed in with 11 tallies.

The Sho'men, suffering a generally poor season, went down to their fourth conference defeat. They have won only one. Mel Morgan and Jack Burk scored 22 points between them to provide the losers' top totals. Washington missed 15 foul shots in 25 attempts.

B Squad Owns 11-4 Record

Latest B Squad statistics reveal the junior Hounds are sporting a 11-4 record with an aggregate of 611 points scored. The opponents of Lefty Reitz's machine have tallied 517 points for a 34.4 average. The Hounds own a 40.7 average.

The team hit its high mark of the season with a 55 point output against Washington College. At the foul line, the team has hit for a 47% record with 134 shots out of 287.

Including 14 games, the total number of field goals was 222, for an average of 15.9. The team's Mason-Dixon Conference log stands at 3-4.

Individual high scorers are Ed Hughes (118), Jack Simanski (97), John Bailey (79), Whitey Welsh (58), Rip Roberts (57).

Playoffs in the intramural basketball league will be held upon completion of the regular league schedules, according to director Franny Mueller.

League I finds the Johnson Glo-coaters and the Ginger Snaps tied for first place. Both own a 1-0 record. Chilton leads League II with a 2-0 slate, while League III is led by the Diz Kids, 3-0, and the Sweitzer Swishers, 2-0. The other non-club league is, at the moment, being ruled by Seagram Seven and Mike's Mechanics. The two club leagues find the Visionaire and Page teams leading.

Bowling

The first week of the Bowling Tournament saw twelve of the original fifty-four bowlers eliminated from play. Topping the list of remaining pin spillers is Don London with his three game total of 397. Louis Fritz with 378 pins to his credit and Jack Delaney, who has bowled over 370 pins, are next in line for honors. London and Fritz are also running one-two for the highest individual game score. London owns a 153 score while Fritz has a 142 total. Ed Ward is third in line with a 136 game.

Six Years At Evergreen

Wilson Now Part Of Loyola Tradition

by Dan Mackey

"Sure boys. Is there anything I can do for you?"

That's Wilson—always around, an integral part of any activity, and rapidly becoming a part of Loyola tradition.

Wilson, or more properly Mr. Wilson D. Bean first came to the college in the early part of 1942. Previously, he had worked at Hankin's for five years. Asked why he had chosen Loyola of all the schools he could have worked for, he said that when he first came just to look over the job, he was very impressed by the spirit, and has stayed ever since.

Small College Then

At that time the college had an enrollment of only 400 students. "But," said Wilson, "it surprises me that there were more social affairs such as dances and the like, than we have now."

Although he has seen six years come and go at Loyola, he has seen the basketball team lose only one championship, and that was the result of a game in which Wish Galvin played against the college as a member of the V-12 class at Mt. St. Mary's.

Spirit Has Dropped

"I don't think that the spirit is as high now as it was when I came," said Wilson. "The boys don't support things the way they used to. I always see the same faces at the games—about one half of the school

Terror Quintet Set For Hounds

The Mason Dixon basketball team which put in the best performance against Loyola in one half game so far this season will be gunning for the Hounds tomorrow night.

The Green Terrors, of Western Maryland, looking toward tomorrow night's fracas at Westminster, Md., are out to prove their showing during the early minutes of the first meeting here was no fluke. The Terrors held Loyola to a 29-28 lead in that first half, and though beaten, did rack up 60 points, highest output by a M-D quint against the Green and Gray this year.

After tackling the Western Maryland five, Lefty Reitz will send his boys against Mt. St. Mary's, American U. and Johns Hopkins in a trio of very important conference outings. Although his team will rule favorite, Reitz looks for trouble from all of these teams which are striving to upset the Hounds.

ALONG THE WRESTLING FRONT

WRESTLING CO-CAPTAIN Jack Enoch and Gallaudet's Bobby Yates try to out-muscle each other during the 136 pound event in the grappling duel between Loyola and the Silents last Saturday.

Grapplers Show Improvement; Bower, Enoch Named Captains

by Jim Norris

Mus Bower and Jack Enoch, both veterans of last year's grappling campaign, have been elected co-captains of the varsity wrestling team, coach Phil Goodman reports.

Having completed over half their schedule, the tug and pull boys have shown improvement in each outing. Both individually and collectively, the wrestlers have come along rapidly since practice began in early December.

Mueller Sensational

Jeep Mueller has proved a sensation in the heavyweight class. Although lacking any experience in college circles, Mueller has won the heavy division spot easily. The 128 pound class was considered a weak spot in the first few matches, but with the addition of Hector DiNardo, recently returned Army vet, the post has been strengthened.

Enoch, beaten in close decisions in opening matches, hit the win column in the Towson Teachers' meet, as did Bower and Carter Beese. The latter, with a pin in 45 seconds necessary, turned the trick in 39 seconds to win.

Krizan Improves

Branch Jordan has replaced George Stevens, who has an ailing shoulder, in the 165 pound section. Steve Krizan, who has been handling the 145 spot, has been working well of late. Bob Weiss, the 121 grappler, performed his best against Maryland.

Goodman, realizing his team's gradual improvement, is hoping for a potent Hound showing in the Mason-Dixon tournament on February 27 and 28.

Western Maryland

Only action due the wrestling squad next week is a very crucial get-together with Western Maryland's forces at home next Saturday afternoon, February 21.

It will be the team's fourth conference match of the year, and a prominent one with regards to the league standings.

Westchester Here Today

Though Loyola's wrestlers are in the throes of a losing season, the matmen have hopes of gaining a victory when they meet Westchester Teachers in the Evergreen gym this afternoon. Coach Phil Goodman is counting materially on heavyweight Jeep Mueller, and 155-pounder Mus Bower.

The wrestling team of Johns Hopkins University blanked Loyola, 22-0, in a Mason-Dixon Conference match held at Homewood, February 5.

The results:

121-Pound Class—Phillips, Hopkins, decisioned Weiss, 4-3.
128-Pound Class—Tighe, Hopkins, pinned DiMardo, 1m. 54s.
136-Pound Class—Schaeffer, Hopkins, decisioned Enoch, 4-1.
145-Pound Class—Hopkins won by default (points not counted).
165-Pound Class—Hopkins won by default (points not counted).
155-Pound Class—Lang, Hopkins, decisioned Bower, 4-1.
175-Pound Class—Brown, Hopkins, decisioned Beese, 3-2.
Heavyweight Class—Lapinski, Hopkins, pinned Judkins, 5.28.

Gallaudet Beaten

Phil Goodman's grapplers returned to the thick of Mason-Dixon Conference contention by turning back Gallaudet's squad by a 22½-7½ score last Saturday afternoon on the home mats in the gymnasium.

General all-around improvement was characteristic of the team's performance. Jeep Mueller continued mastery of the heavyweight division, gaining a decision over Ed Vasnick in little over seven minutes.

Hector DiNardo, Jack Enoch, Joe Boulay, Mus Bower and Carter Beese also gained successful verdicts from the Silents from Washington, D. C.

The results:

121-Pound Class—Weiss, Loyola, tied with Kirkpatrick, 2½-2½.
128-Pound Class—DiNardo, Loyola, defeated Hutchinson, Decision, 5-3.
136-Pound Class—Enoch, Loyola, defeated Yates, Decision, 6-0.
145-Pound Class—Boulay, Loyola, defeated Nugent, Decision, 4-0.
155-Pound Class—Baker, Loyola, defeated Lee, Decision, 4-0.
165-Pound Class—Bullock, Gallaudet, defeated Erberts, Fall, 5m.
175-Pound Class—Beese, Loyola, defeated Lockhart, Decision, 4-0.
Heavyweight—Mueller, Loyola, defeated Vasnick, Fall, 7.17m.

is consistent in going, and though it may be a really good game. And the presence of a good crowd can change the score of a game in a crucial moment."

"We could have some new cheers and lots more cheering from everybody."

Born In Baltimore

Wilson was born in Baltimore, and was married in 1942. Last August 16, he and his wife Carrie adopted a little boy whom they named Lamont. The boy is nineteen months old now and growing fast.

To relax on his free evenings, he goes to the Mt. Weiner Club where he plays cards or pool.

Likes To Play Sports

Wilson likes to play sports as much as he likes to watch the games, and his favorite is basketball. "I like good fast games," he said, "and I wish those referees wouldn't break up the game so much."

In all his time at Loyola, Wilson has never seen one of the school plays, although he was present at this year's Loyola Night. The remark was typically Wilsonian—"Something just always turns up."

Archbishop From India Pays Visit To Loyola

THE MOST REVEREND MAR IVANIOS, Metropolitan of Trivandrum, displays his episcopal cross to the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., as the Rev. John C. Baker, S. J., director of the Maryland Province Mission Bureau, looks on.

Loyola had a distinguished caller last week when His Excellency, the Most Reverend Mar Ivanios visited the College. Archbishop Ivanios is Metropolitan of Trivandrum, Travancore State, India, and is the spiritual leader of 58,000 Indian Catholics of the Malankara Rite.

Archbishop Ivanios came to America to attend the Marian Congress in Ottawa and expects to return to India shortly. While in this country he has visited the shrine of the Jesuit American Martyrs and has also said Mass in the National Shrine in Washington.

Discusses Students

Speaking in fluent English, His Excellency discussed educational trends in India with a group of Loyola students. The Indian students, he said, are leaning toward technology and away from liberal arts. They also look toward the past, unlike Americans, who look only to the future.

Technology is important in India, he commented, for India has the resources to become a great industrial nation. But it will be on a village scale, since the Indians dislike large cities.

Some Communism

"Communists have set foot in India," His Excellency admitted, "but they haven't made much progress." And although some political leaders welcome students, Archbishop Ivanios does not believe that students should become involved in politics.

Glee Club Prepares For March Concert

Mr. Felice Iula, Director of Music at Loyola, has announced that the Glee Club will present a concert at the end of March. The Club has been meeting three times a week for rehearsals to prepare for the concert.

Two soloists, Albert Fitzgerald and Niles E. Fields, are scheduled to sing at the concert. Fitzgerald will sing the Cashmiri Song by Finden and Fields will sing He That Keepeth Israel by Schlosser.

Other selections which are scheduled to be sung are Finlandia, In A Monastery Garden, Kentucky Babe, Song of the Vagabonds and This Is My Country.

The Glee Club is divided into two sections, each meeting separately once a week. On Friday, both sections combine for a general rehearsal.

Changes Listed For Quarterly

A redesigned cover and a revision of general format will be the only changes in the Spring issue of the Evergreen Quarterly, Bill Heffner, new executive editor of the magazine, announced in a recent interview.

Color will be used on inside pages for the first time in the history of the magazine. The policy will be the same, with particular stress on a greater number of student contributors.

"The format will be more distinctive," Heffner said. "We're aiming at a style of make-up that will be individual to the Evergreen alone."

The guest article, by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., is entitled "Evelyn Waugh, Loyola Alumnus," and is the story of the correspondence that resulted in the presentation of an Honorary Doctor of Literature degree to the English novelist by the College.

Stories by Elmer J. Walker, John H. Plunkett and Robert Harris; poems by Courtney Johnson, Jr., John Daigailitis and George S. Brown; and a translation by John Scrimger are among the contributions appearing.

Prescott Enters Local Seminary

Herbert Prescott, '47, entered St. Mary's Seminary, Paca Street, to study for the priesthood on Thursday, February 12th.

Following his graduation from Loyola last year, he enrolled in the Fordham graduate school where he was majoring in Psychology for his M.A. He finished half of his credits for his degree while at Fordham.

Loyola Students Express Distrust Of "New Look"

by Daniel Shehan

When the New Look first appeared, loud and long opinions were voiced on both sides; since then the controversy has calmed somewhat and fevers have dropped a few degrees. THE GREYHOUND, taking advantage of the several months' observation available since the new fashions appeared, recently sampled student opinion on the subject.

Most students liked the long dresses on tall girls only. "It's marvelous!" comes the response from an ardent admirer of the new fashions. "It has that element of chic that refreshes."

Some Are Opposed

A Loyola man opposed to the not-so-new look suggests that if women persist in wearing longer dresses, students should grow mutton-chops or goatees and wear black derbies. "Paramonumental crust," was the way one observer expressed it.

Some were willing to compromise on this situation. "Let the women wear what they want and the men will remain the same," was one laconic reply.

"Of course," remarked another, "if women persist in changing the style, we can change ours: we won't wear ties."

It's A Scheme

One bitter student writes "It was designed for the sole reason of changing a woman's wardrobe and making money . . . A very small percentage of women are able to wear it gracefully and not look like a roped and tied calf."

Some terse but to-the-point remarks were:

"I don't like it."
"Just new upholstery."
"Don't mind."
"I don't think about it."

Some Wax Philosophical

An enthusiast remarks, "The New Look is wonderful for those girls with un-edifying figures."

"If the young ladies of the present age don't want to look like chorus girls it might be better to lower the skirts," says one student.

Perhaps the most philosophical comment of the entire poll was that of one student, apparently a psychology major:

"It is just another example of women's basic instability!"
